The 2022 edition of The Prairie Garden focuses on smaller spaces. Whether you are new to gardening or an old hand, working with a large garden or confined to a tiny balcony, everyone has a smaller space where they want to grow plants. This edition covers the all-important gardening question: what can I grow where? And how do I get the best out of the space I am working with? Learn about light and how it works to feed our plants, how to keep potting soil fresh and viable, about house plants, making small gardens look bigger and making gardens where you'd never believe possible.

Guest editor Mr. Tomato introduced Kozy-Coat water-teepees, Sea Magic seaweed concentrate and other products to the gardening world. He has received 10 awards for home grounds landscaping and authored a best-selling booklet, “Secrets of Starting and Growing Seedlings Under Lights.” He also has designed gardening catalogues, been a guest speaker at many gardening club functions, guest-hosted a gardening radio program and has been featured on CBC’s “Canadian Gardener”.
